4 as follows:

5 PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

6 Discovery, investigation and trial preparation is ongoing and continuing and 7 remains in the preliminary stages. As they proceed, witnesses, facts, documents 8 information, contentions and evidence may be discovered which are not expressly 9 set forth, alluded to, relied upon or referenced in these responses. These responses 10 are based on the information, records, facts and evidence presently available to this 11 responding party and evidence now known may be imperfectly understood and/or 12 the relevance, significance or consequences of facts, evidence, witnesses, 13 information or contentions may, in good faith, not be included in the following 14 responses.

15 Discovery will continue as long as permitted by statute, Court Order or 16 stipulation of the parties. Investigation by this Responding Party, its agents and 17 attorneys will continue up to and throughout trial. This Responding Party, 18 therefore, reserves its rights to refer to, conduct discovery or investigation with 19 reference to, or to offer into evidence at the time of trial, any and all witnesses, 20 facts, contentions, information, documents or evidence developed during the 21 course of discovery, investigation and trial preparation, notwithstanding the 22 evidence, witnesses, facts, documents, contentions, information or evidence 23 expressly set forth in these responses.

24 This Responding Party reserves the right to supplement or amend these 25 responses, but assumes no obligation to voluntarily supplement and/or amend them
26 to reflect witnesses, facts, contentions, documents, information or evidence 27 discovered following service of these responses or to reflect new interpretations, 28 understandings or contentions with respect to facts, witnesses, contentions,

1 documents, information or evidence already possessed by this Responding Party,
2 which become more perfectly understood during the course of discovery,
3 investigation, trial preparation or trial.

4 This Preliminary Statement is incorporated into the written responses to each 5 and every request set forth below, as if fully set forth therein.

6 GENERAL OBJECTIONS

7 Each of Responding Party's responses, in addition to the specific objections 8 stated therein, is subject to and incorporates the following General Objections. The 9 assertion of the same, similar, or additional objections or partial response to any 10 individual interrogatory does not waive any of the General Objections.

11 Responding Party objects to the definitions of "HENGLIN," YOU," or 12 "YOUR" on the grounds that they are overly broad and unduly burdensome to the 13 extent that they purport to include entities other than the named defendant in this 14 action, and to the extent they call for production of documents and information not 15 in Responding Party's possession, custody, or control.

16 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it imposes 17 instructions, requirements, or limitations other or greater than those set forth in the 18 California Code of Civil Procedure.

19 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks to 20 impose on its responsibility for disclosing information not within its possession or 21 control.

22 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it is overly 23 broad in terms of time and/or scope, unduly burdensome, oppressive, vague, 24 ambiguous, and/or unreasonable.

25 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks 26 information that is not relevant to this action or reasonably calculated to lead to the 27 discovery of admissible evidence.
28

1 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory insofar as it requests the 2 disclosure of any information protected by the attorney client privilege or the 3 attorney work product privilege. No such information will be disclosed.

4 Responding Party objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks 5 discovery of confidential, trade secret, proprietary, financial, or commercially 6 sensitive information, the disclosure of which would constitute an invasion of the 7 constitutionally protected right of privacy or could result in substantial competitive 8 injury to this Responding Party or breach by Responding Party of an obligation to 9 another to maintain such information confidential.

10 Responding Party further objects to each interrogatory as vague, ambiguous 11 and overbroad.

12 Responding Party further objects to each interrogatory as it presumes the 13 employment relationship between the Plaintiff and the Responding Party.

14 Subject to the foregoing General Objections, Responding Party responds to 15 the specific interrogatories as follows:

Responding Party further objects to the definitions of “HENGLIN,” “YOU,” or “YOUR” on the grounds that they are overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent that they purport to include entities other than the named defendant in this action, and to the extent they call for production of documents and information not in Responding Party’s possession, custody, or control. Responding Party understands “YOU” to refer to Henglin Home Furnishings Co., Ltd., the party Defendant in the above-captioned action. Responding Party further objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it seeks information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of this action nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Responding Party further objects on the grounds that this Interrogatory is vague and ambiguous, including as to the term “e-commerce retail platforms” and “distribution centers.” Responding Party further objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is overbroad as to time and/or scope, unduly burdensome, and/or oppressive. Responding Party further objects to this Interrogatory on the ground that it fails to identify the documents it seeks with sufficient particularity. Responding Party further object to this Interrogatory as overbroad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case to the extent that it seeks responsive documents beyond the time period relevant to this litigation. Responding Party further objects that this question is impermissibly compound and aimed at squeezing two questions into one, to avoid the 25 interrogatory limit, and objects to the second part of the question, and declines to answer it on this basis.

Subject to, and without waiving the foregoing objections, Responding Party responds as follows: Responding Party's answer should be limited to the relevant period alleged in the Propounding Party's Complaint in this litigation (i.e., from December 27, 2023, through December 23, 2024).
